

unimarket

Workday

Perfect partners for eProcurement.

Whether you need a full procure-to-pay solution or just a simple-to-use marketplace, Unimarket is the perfect fit for organizations using Workday.

Your procurement team must deliver cost savings and process efficiencies while also ensuring spend remains compliant. That's challenging when purchasing is decentralized, and impossible without the right procurement software in place.

Unimarket is a best-in-class eProcurement solution trusted by organizations using Workday. Our solution integrates tightly with the Workday platform, complementing its functionality while providing the flexibility to manage procurement how you need.

Some of our Workday clients manage and automate their entire procurement process through Unimarket, from purchasing through to approvals and invoice processing.

Others prefer to manage some steps in Workday while taking advantage of Unimarket's user-friendly marketplace and advanced supplier management functionality.

Why? Integrating suppliers into Workday can be time-consuming and complex projects that create a significant drain on your IT team. The more suppliers you have, the greater the burden on your IT resources.

But Unimarket lets you connect with all of your suppliers through a single integration. This saves a huge amount of time and effort and gives your users easy access to all of your preferred suppliers through a familiar and intuitive marketplace.

Whatever procurement functionality you need, Unimarket can help you get procurement done right.

How does Unimarket get procurement done right for you?

Ease

Give your people a familiar marketplace shopping experience.

Automate everything, from requisition generation to approvals.

Save time and resources with a cloud-based solution that updates automatically and needs no installation.

Visibility & control

Know how much your users are spending, what they're buying, and from which suppliers.

Ensure purchases are authorized before spend is committed with upfront requisition approval.

Forecast with reliable data on historical and committed spend.

Savings

Create buying power by directing spend to preferred suppliers.

Save time and money by cutting out paperwork and automating processes.

Onboard suppliers without the need for time-consuming, point-to-point integrations.

Integration made easy

Software integrations can be highly complex and time-consuming projects. As a result, IT departments with limited resources are often reluctant to consider the introduction of new technology.

That's why we've developed the simplest and most effective way of integrating the Unimarket eProcurement solution with Workday.

Our no-fuss integration ensures a flexible, reliable, and seamless relationship with Workday, enabling procurement, finance, and accounts payable teams to work more efficiently and effectively across the entire procurement process.

Delivered by our expert implementation team, there's no need for a detailed system assessment, and there's minimal burden on your IT resources. We also support enterprise-level authentication through single sign-on and we can easily integrate with other solutions within your wider IT ecosystem for total harmony.

Once integrated, the Unimarket solution can be configured to your organization's specific needs, from tailored approval workflows to the custom management of invoice exceptions.

Plus, because Unimarket is a cloud-based solution, all product updates and patches happen automatically and without disruption.

“If I had to define Unimarket, it would be ‘collaborative.’ They’ve always been there for us and we’ve benefited immensely from it.”

Nick Rose, Coordinator of Purchasing Systems at Lehigh University.

Ready to start?

Visit our website or contact your local Unimarket representative to learn more about how we can help your organization get procurement done right.

unimarket.com | hello@unimarket.com

©2022 Unimarket Holdings Ltd. All rights reserved. Unimarket is a trademark of Unimarket Holdings Ltd.

The power of simplicity

Your organization has different needs, circumstances, and challenges than others. That's why we offer a flexible procurement solution that provides all the functionality you need without unnecessary complexity and cost.

Marketplace

Our integrated catalog-driven marketplace lets you quickly find and buy the things you need from your preferred suppliers at your negotiated prices.

A well-established network of suppliers means many of the suppliers you work with may be ready to connect already. For those that aren't, we'll work to onboard them on your behalf.

eProcurement

Building on Marketplace, our eProcurement solution adds the capability to manage your purchase orders, approvals, and requisition process.

Your users will love shopping made easy, while you will be able to realize the benefits of centralized buying, control, and visibility.

eProcurement+

Unimarket's most comprehensive solution manages your entire procurement process, from purchasing to managing supplier invoices.

Automating accounts payable will help you make substantial savings on invoice processing costs and free up staff to focus on more strategic objectives.

Add-ons

Our Contracts Add-on makes it easy to manage your supplier contracts by bringing them all into a single, searchable contract repository.

Looking to reduce your payment processing costs? Our Payments Add-on lets you integrate payments into the procurement and invoice management process.

Scan the QR code to visit our website